

TRF415MSX & Marc Rheinard win at TITC!

Tamiya Racing Factory (TRF) driver and current World Champion driver Marc Rheinard took victory at the 4th Thailand International Touring Car Championship (TITC), held from February 17th to 19th at Radio Control Speedway (RCS) in Bangkok, Thailand. This event hosted 102 Super Stock 23T Class drivers and 86 Open Modified Class drivers for a grand total of 188 participants from across the globe. Marc won the TITC title in the face of stiff competition from former world champions Atsushi Hara and Surikarn Chaidajsuriya.

This latest victory, coming on the heels of Marc's victory at the DHI Cup this January, is further evidence of the dominating power and amazing potential of the TRF415MSX Chassis. Based on the racing expertise of the two-time IFMAR World Champion TRF Team, Marc used a prototype version of this chassis, a modified TRF415MS, to win the Reedy Touring Race Europe in June of 2005. Nothing beats real race experience when it comes to refining and improving an R/C car chassis, and the fact that TRF gets winning results speaks volumes.

Tamiya knows that true winners never rest in their pursuit of perfection. That's why TRF has continued striving to improve the 415, our latest racing chassis. Knowledge is power, and the knowledge and experience of the Tamiya Racing Factory Team will give you the power to win.
